Isn't it a Fact?

That the greatest factor for the good of the public is the newspapers.
If you merchants would take the trouble to find out the amount of money sent to mail-order houses from the home town, it would give them a real idea.
It would show them up to the fact that in order to compete with the mail-order houses, they should use the same methods as used by the mail-order houses.
ADVERTISING!—The Magnet that Attracts
Mail-order houses appreciate the maximum of advertising. This is why they are so much successful.
Hence opportunities for advertising are necessary in their business. Try make these arrangements and see that this is why they get rich at the expense of the local merchants.

Caused by Damp Sleeping

The crippling of swine is a manifestation of rickets or porosis, or both, but one can always diagnose crippling as a result of dietary deficiency of mineral nutrition. The cause is practically unknown. Swine running outside in summer is almost as rare in winter in the Prairie Provinces among swine living in a straw pile or in a straw bed as well provided with bedding. On the other hand, crippling is sleeping quarters. Serious damage has often resulted from attempts to sleep in lumber cabinets with straw and manure, or in a constructed lumber building like the piggery. It has also been noted that in case of fall pigs, those before September 15, and all that run outside, seldom crippled in the winter, but made good gains and remained thrifty, sometimes in adverse conditions. Pigs born in the fall have not the same chance to become well grown and thus so prepared to withstand the cold and lack of sunshine during

British National Cabinet Can't Agree on Matters of Tariffs

London, Eng.—Two days after three months after its appointment the National cabinet found itself divided over tariffs.

Nevertheless, there is no expectation that any of the ministers will resign, as is sometimes expected when one or more ministers become out of step with the majority. There is no doubt but that the cabinet will be free to agree and dissent in order to reach a compromise.

This was made clear in an official statement issued after a meeting of the cabinet, which agreed the cabinet was recently united on all matters of policy.

It would be wrong to say the cabinet is absolutely without a leader, as it is in many lines, but the situation is nevertheless one of the cabinet is not a united body.

The present constitutional principle was established. Thursday, Jan. 23, the cabinet met for four and a half hours. Friday, Jan. 24, it met for two and a half hours. Shortly after the breaking up, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald issued an official communique in which he said:

"The cabinet has considered the tariff committee on the balance of trade but after prolonged discussion has been unable to reach a unanimous conclusion on the committee's recommendations.

"The cabinet has also considered the tariff committee's recommendations on the balance of trade but after prolonged discussion has been unable to reach a unanimous conclusion on the committee's recommendations.

"Accordingly it has determined that some modification of the tariff committee's recommendations is required, and has decided that the ministers of the cabinet should be asked to report the conclusions reached by a majority of their colleagues on the subject of the tariff committee's recommendations to the cabinet, before the cabinet meets again.

"The cabinet has also decided that the cabinet should be asked to report the conclusions reached by a majority of their colleagues on the subject of the tariff committee's recommendations to the cabinet, before the cabinet meets again.

"The cabinet has also decided that the cabinet should be asked to report the conclusions reached by a majority of their colleagues on the subject of the tariff committee's recommendations to the cabinet, before the cabinet meets again.
